Fierce fires raged in finally-blitzed Berlin today and American bombers probably had a lot to do with them.

The violent Royal Air Force attack upon Adolf Hitler's capital, coincident with destructive raids on Hamburg and Bremen, strongly indicates that high-powered, long-distance bombers are now being received in a steady flow from the United States.

An uninterrupted R. A. F. offensive may now be anticipated. For obvious military reasons, the British have been loath to give out information concerning receipt of American planes. But military observers have long realized that long-distance attacks were out of the question until big American planes were on hand in quantity.

Different Matter
A British raid on Berlin is quite different from a German attack on London. The Nazis, of course, can operate from French air fields only sixty or seventy miles from the British capital. Royal Air Force planes, on the other hand, have to fly at least 500 miles to Berlin and then get back again.

Four kittens were born Wednesday at the home of S. H. Reed, of 838 East Lutton street. Two of the little fellows are exact twins, marked black and white, with six claws on each front paw.

W. J. Allen, of Adams street, saw a flock of wild ducks, on Tuesday, at Volant. Mr. Allen and his brother, John, fed a number of them that came down on the Neshaunock Creek, near their mother's home there.

James H. Wigton, of Walmo, saw a robin this morning at 6:30 in an apple tree in his yard, and he reports that it was chirping but not very enthusiastically.

Winter seems to be developing quite a punch in its closing days, and is going down fighting hard. This morning the thermometer dropped to 12 degrees at the weather observing station while marks as low as 8 and 9 were recorded elsewhere in the county. However, the same condition existed last year at this time of the month, but it didn't last long.

Berlin Report Says 16 Killed; 37 Injured By R. A. F. Bombing

BERLIN, March 13.—Killing 16 persons and injuring 37, R. A. F. planes attacked Berlin during the night and also bombed the German seaports of Hamburg and Bremen, the German high command announced today.

At the same time, it was announced that a night German raid on the British port of Liverpool caused havoc even exceeding that of the terrific German attack on Coventry several months ago.

Liverpool's food supplies were especially hard hit, while grain and flour warehouses were seriously damaged.

German authorities charged that the British raids on Berlin were chiefly at residential districts of the capital.

An official communique said 10 of the British raiders were shot down.

Illusions Dispelled

But the attack on Berlin effectively dispelled any illusions of Berlin residents that Britain's R. A. F. is no longer able to penetrate to their capital.

Yugoslavia Report Says Million Men Are Now Under Arms

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 13.—More than 1,000,000 men are under arms in Yugoslavia and the number is increasing hourly, the London Daily Telegraph reported from Belgrade today.

The dispatch said tension is mounting as a result of the unexpected arrival of Chancellor Hitler at Linz in former Austria.

(Hitler and German Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels arrived at Linz to attend a celebration of the anniversary of Austrian Anschluss with the Reich. In a speech last night Goebbels declared Germany's victory in the war is assured.)

Reports received in London said that Italy is massing a huge army in Albania near the Yugoslavian frontier.

Nevertheless, all available indications were that Yugoslavia will refuse to enter the axis-Japanese military alliance when the Yugoslavian premier and foreign minister meet Hitler in Vienna at the end of the week.

As search for suspects intensified, belief grew that Bulgarian "Comitajis"—Macedonian extremists and terrorists—were behind the bomb explosions that blew the front out of Istanbul's Pera Palace hotel.

ATHENS, March 13.—With three more of their crack divisions annihilated or dispersed, the Italian forces attacking in central Albania under personal command of Premier Mussolini slowed down perceptibly today.

Reports from the battlefield strongly indicated that after six days of futile offensive, the Italians are now showing signs of great fatigue.

30,000 Italians Out

Greek sources estimate that at least 30,000 additional Italian soldiers have been put out of action in the week's fighting.

Military experts in Athens predicted an early new Greek offensive which was expected to result in capture of Tepeleni and complete breakdown of the Italian lines in the center.

From then on, the attack will be directed toward the seacoast with the ports of Valona and Durazzo the chief objectives.

British planes are now playing an important role in the Greek operations. An official communique today told of heavy attacks by R. A. (Continued On Page Two)

The mine is located in Cambria county, just west of this county seat.

No other miners were injured.

Thomas Lamont, of Ebensburg, bituminous mine inspector for District 10, said the explosion probably was of gas.

The explosion occurred about 1 a. m., the first body being brought out at 4 a. m., the last at 4:30 a. m. as rescue crews swiftly went into action. All four victims were burned.

Scene of the explosion was at the number 16 entry in the number 1 dip, about half a mile from the entrance, a spokesman for the company said.

TRIED FOR DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Leila May Dixon was found guilty of manslaughter Wednesday night in Lawrence county court when the jury trying her for the murder of her husband, Walter Dixon, on October 25, 1940, returned a verdict. The jury was given the case about 5 o'clock after the charge by Judge W. Walter Braham and reached its verdict about 9:15. Seven ballots were taken.

The verdict was announced at 9:40. Judge Braham, counsel for both sides, and court officers were notified and soon arrived at the court house Mrs. Dixon was brought into court by Sheriff and Mrs. M. M. Ingham and the verdict read. The crime of manslaughter carries with it a maximum penalty of 6 to 12 years in the penitentiary.

The trial was conducted with a minimum of public interest. None of the usual hurly burly of murder trials was present and the verdict was received with no display of feeling by the two squire or more spectators in the court room.

Defendant Is Stolid

No announcement was made Wednesday night by counsel for the defense as to whether or not a new trial would be asked. The defense has four days in which to file such a motion. If the motion is not filed, the sentence will be passed within a short time. If it is filed, a hearing on the motion must be held before anything can be done by way of sentence.

Mrs. Dixon received the verdict with the same stolidity that marked her through the trial.

On October 25, 1940, Mrs. Dixon cut her husband's throat during an argument between them in Home street after they had been ejected from the colored Elks club. She was arrested shortly after and has been in the county jail since.

LONDON, March 13.—Huge fires were reported flaming in Berlin today after British bombers subjected the German capital and the seaports of Bremen and Hamburg to stunning night attacks.

One R. A. F. plane that attacked Hamburg shot up a military barracks there with machine gun fire, attacking from an altitude of only 50 feet, it was stated.

This afternoon heavy explosions along the Nazi-occupied French coast were heard at Dover. Mist obscured the French coastline but it was believed the blasts heralded new British daylight attacks on invasion ports.

In retaliation for the British night attacks, heaviest carried out by the R. A. F. since the war began, German raiders punched at Britain early this morning.

But the air ministry announced two enemy planes had been shot down near the southeast coast of England at dawn. This brought the (Continued On Page Two)

Counter Proposal In Wage Parley Over Mine Scale

NEW YORK, March 13.—Rejection of the new wage demands put forward by the United Mine Workers of America and a counter proposal that the current labor contract be extended for two more years was made today by soft coal operators whose mines produce the nation's major tonnage.

The operators' stand was made known at the joint Appalachian miners-operators conference now meeting to consider the miners' demands which are highlighted by a demand for a basic $6-a-day minimum wage, a guarantee of 200 working days per year, two weeks vacation with pay and improved safety devices at the collieries.

The rejection was announced by Charles O'Neill of New York, president of the United Eastern Coal Sales Corporation, acting as spokesman for the operators.

Immediate Supply Of War Materials To Great Britain Is Speeded

WASHINGTON, March 13.—British aid will entail a 50 per cent increase in the national defense plant expansion program, thus requiring employment of additional millions and carrying the nation's industry further toward a war basis, officials estimated today.

With army and navy officials already combining war stocks for planes, ships, weapons and munitions to be immediately dispatched to Britain, an enormous plant expansion program was being devised to boost production to record levels two years hence.

Contracts already have been let, it was estimated, for plant expansions costing $1,500,000,000. President Roosevelt seeks $752,000,000 more for this purpose under the "arsenal of democracy" program.

To Aid Convoy.

As Secretary of State Hull readied himself for an appeal before the house appropriations deficiency subcommittee for quick action on President Roosevelt's request for a $7,000,000,000 appropriation to finance the lease-lend program, a new plan of insuring that war goods reach Britain was being discussed by navy officials.

One high navy official said that additional destroyers will be given Britain to convoy American merchant ships as they are filled with war material and transferred to the embattled country.

Called to follow Hull were Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, War Secretary Stimson, Navy Secretary Knox, Defense Chief William S. Knudsen, Gen. George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations.

As enormity of the "arsenal of democracy" program grew upon Washington officials, the office of production management warned that several million additional people must be hired to carry out the defense and British aid programs in 1941.

Huge bombing planes will be flown to Britain in increasing numbers, officials said.

moonlight, produced a spectacle of bursting anti-aircraft shells, plummeting planes and occasional heavy bomb explosions.

I watched the attack from a rooftop, where the moonlight was so bright it was possible to read a newspaper.

When the first waves of British planes appeared they drew such a terrific anti-aircraft barrage that the full face of the moon soon floated behind white puffs of smoke from bursting anti-aircraft shells.

As I watched I could see occasional groups of R. A. F. planes, flying at a tremendous height as they ducked through the ground fire.

The British planes dropped numerous flares during the attack, and it appeared they were taking photographs.

During an intermission in the anti-aircraft fire I heard a fast plane—obviously a German night fighter—roar overhead as it challenged the British planes.

A moment later I heard the roar of British motors as three R. A. F. bombers in succession came diving low over the capital and then whipped away after their dare-devil plunges.

Later I saw two comet-like torches plunging to earth, undoubtedly British planes hit by shells or machine gun bullets.

But the attackers kept coming amid the steady roar of anti-aircraft fire and the lesser bark of smaller guns.

According to the official announcement, the 16 Berliners were killed and 37 were injured in an attack on Berlin's residential sections.

The communiqué said hospitals, apartments houses and one church were hit.

The London Daily Mail quoted a high government spokesman in Belgrade as saying:

"Any country which signs the pact is bound to declare war on the United States if the American government ever declares war on Germany, Japan or Italy. Yugoslavia does not want to be placed in this embarrassing position."

force, the emphasis remained on fast fighters and light bombers. Wholesale production of heavy bombing planes would have required a diminution of fighter strength with the result that London now would have been destroyed instead of merely badly scarred.

Up to now, the British have had to content themselves with nightly raids on the German invasion ports, with only occasional visits to Berlin and other large cities by light bombers carrying one or two 500-pound bombs at the most. So much fuel was needed for the 1,000-mile flight to Berlin and back that little in the way of high explosives could be taken.

See U. S. Bombers In Use

For many months, military observers have waited for an all-out "blitz" attack on Berlin as proof that the American bombers flown across the ocean from Canada or carried by ship are now in service and operation.

In the House of Commons on Tuesday, British Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair told of the excellence of American planes and hinted at some secret new "night fighter" of extraordinary ability. The British say they knocked off nine attacking German planes over England last night. This may mean that American skill and ingenuity now is helping to defend England as well as carrying the war to Adolf Hitler's home plane.

German Cities Hammered.
The three teeming German cities were hammered by R. A. F. bombers in what the British air ministry termed the "heaviest raid yet."

At the same time, German raiders attacked various parts of Britain, carrying out their longest raid of this year on Liverpool.

But it was announced that nine of the Nazi night raiders were destroyed, a record for a single night's defensive operations.

During British attack on Hamburg it was stated in London, one Messerschmidt-110 night fighter was shot down. Heavy bombs crashed into the Hamburg docks.

An industrial area of Bremen was set on fire, according to reports brought back by R. A. F. airmen who participated in the raid.

Another bomber at Hamburg swooped low and extinguished German searchlights with machine gun fire. All the British operations were assisted by bright moonlight.

During the Nazi night attacks on Britain, the air ministry said, British night fighters, anti-aircraft guns and "other devices" destroyed the nine German planes. Night fighters accounted for five of them.

Other coastal command planes attacked an aircraft in southern Norway during the night, dropping bombs which extinguished searchlights and burst among airport buildings.

Shipping and docks at Boulogne, Ynuiden and Ostend also were attacked, the air ministry stated.

The British attack on Berlin was the 37th R. A. F. assault against the German capital since war began, but the first since last December.

Bremen and Hamburg, two of Germany's greatest ports, have been blasted repeatedly by British bombers.

Heaviest Raid Yet

An air ministry communique described the attacks on the three German cities as the "heaviest raid yet."

It was believed invasion ports along the invasion coast also were attacked by the British planes, which swarmed into the night sky in unprecedented array.

The titanic British aerial assault appeared to reflect London's confidence that passage of the American lease-lend bill will soon start a tremendous flow of American-built planes to Britain, and that the R. A. F. can now throw its resources into battle with a more prodigal hand than heretofore.

In swift retaliation for the British attacks, six German Messerschmidt-109 fighter-bombers appeared over

ITALIAN FORCES UNDER MUSSOLINI SUFFER REVERSES

F. bombers on Italian troop and motor transport concentrations on the Glata road.

Offensive Smashed

Dispatches from all sectors of the Albanian war front revealed today that the great Italian offensive which began Sunday now has been completely smashed.

The Italian drive took form as a counter-move against the Greek offensive, now in its seventh day.

A communique issued by the Greek high command stated:

"The enemy intensified his efforts, but the attacks were repulsed with considerable losses to the Italians."

"During successful action by our troops 200 Italians were taken prisoner. The Greek air force co-operated."

Another communique issued over the Athens radio charged the Greek hospital ship Socrates was bombed by an Italian seaplane off Leukas Island. The plane dived at the vessel and dropped three bombs from a height of 900 feet. All fell near the ship, slightly damaging the vessel.

The announcement said the deck was clearly marked with a Red Cross.

A blonde woman averages about 150,000 separate hairs on her head, a brunette has between 80,000 and 130,000 while a redhead may have as few as 25,000 due to the fact that red hair is coarser than blonde or brunette.

EAST SIDE CLUB HAS LUNCHEON-MEETING

"A new annual" was given in response to roll call, at the meeting of the East Side Garden club, held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Harold Perver, 429 Norwood avenue, who entertained in a pleasant manner at their regular monthly event. Miss Rosemary McGurk was a special guest.

A delicious luncheon was served at 1 o'clock as the opening feature, and pouring at the attractively appointed table, were Mrs. W. D. Kelly and Mrs. Arthur Martin. Preceding the usual program, consideration was given to the planning of a special excursion to be taken to Hershey, Pa., some time in June, the pilgrimage to be made by bus. Mrs. Harry Sturdevant is in charge of reservations of women planning to participate, an invitation being open to all garden club women of the vicinity.

Two excellent papers were given, one on "Ideas To Beautifying Home Grounds" was offered by Mrs. J. Albert Wilson. The second on "Foundation Planting" was contributed by Mrs. C. R. Brenner. A short discussion ensued, and presiding over the brief business period, was president, Mrs. Leonard Cramer.

The next regular meeting of the club, is planned for Wednesday, April 9, at the home of Mrs. Howard Reynolds, East Washington street. On this date, members will display wild flowers, and each will be prepared to give an original garden verse.

MORE "FIRST THINGS FIRST"

IN LINE with President Roosevelt's admonition that in the world emergency Americans must do "first things first" is the revelation that an understanding has been reached by the United States and Mexico for a common defense front against foreign aggression.

Previously a joint defense pact was entered into by the United States and Canada, so that the defense front now comprises all of North America. Negotiations with Mexico are not yet concluded, but military, naval and air force experts of both countries are at work on cooperative plans, of which it is presumptive that emergency use by this country of air and naval bases to be established by Mexico is a part.

It is from such bases in Mexico and elsewhere that the United States must be prepared to resist any contemplated attack upon the Panama Canal. Conferences with important South American countries are expected to follow soon, but they will take place after North American solidarity is assured. The Republic of Panama already has granted sites for air and anti-aircraft bases.

United States relations with Mexico were apparently improved by the visit of Henry Wallace, then Vice-President-elect, at the inauguration of December 1 of President Camacho. There are issues in controversy between the two countries, notably those growing out of the expropriation of foreign oil properties, some American-owned, in the regime of President Cardenas. The Sinclair claim already has been settled and the administration at Washington is hopeful of a long era of good feeling between the two republics.

GIRL SCOUTING IN DEFENSE

There seems to be a good deal of confusion these days as to just what constitutes national defense. The celebration on March 12 of the twenty-ninth birthday of Girl Scouting in this country has been a timely reminder that national defense begins with the nation's youth.

The good work done in the past year by the New Castle Girl Scouts shows what can be done to train girls for motherhood and citizenship. As for what should be done next, we can look at Great Britain where the Scout movement has flourished. Apparently a nation which has a large body of young people trained to think for themselves and to accept the responsibilities as well as the privileges of citizenship is a nation which can't be easily overthrown.

Dictators recognize the value of youth organizations. They take them over or abolish them if they can't bend them to their wills. It would seem the part of national wisdom to support such organizations and strengthen them while there is still time.

Many national defense plans are for young people more than eighteen years old. When girls from seven to eighteen ask "What can we do to help?", the answer should be easy: "You can join the Girl Scouts. They show you plenty to do and you'll have fun doing it."

Parents know that future citizens and mothers of citizens need the sort of practical democratic experience offered by the New Castle Girl Scout troops. Any defense plans should certainly include giving more girls a chance to share this valuable training at once.

NEW TACTICS IN U-BOAT WARFARE

New Tactics, say officers of British merchantmen, are being used by German submarines against convoys. Instead of going out alone to stalk their prey, the U-boats now hunt in packs; "they lose more subs that way," one officer commented, "but we lose more ships; the Jerries seem to feel it's worth it." It would obviously be worth it only so long as submarine building and the training of crews could keep pace with British submarine replacements, and no dependable statistics as to that are available.

The development of the new method seems a natural outcome of the general use of the convoy system. A lone submarine, unless commanded by an exceptionally skillful officer, has little chance of attacking a convoy with success. It cannot hope at least to destroy more than one or two ships, and its risk of being destroyed in its turn is enormous. But when submarines fight in groups they may, under a competent flotilla leader, wreak tremendous havoc on a convoy, and they may considerably increase the effectiveness of their action by deliberately sacrificing some of their units, using them as decoys to draw the fire of the enemy while the real attack is delivered from another quarter.

Another consideration is that when the U-boats work in groups their crews do not need to be so thoroughly trained, since most of their maneuvers will be carried out under the direction of the squadron leader. Thus Germany gets around the greatest difficulty of all in submarine replacement: the difficulty of providing skilled men to operate undersea boats.

Rumors have been heard from London that some Admiralty authorities now favor dropping the convoy system and letting merchantmen shift individually for themselves. Certainly it would not pay the Germans to send groups of U-boats in pursuit of lone merchantmen. If convoys were abolished, the submarine would have to hunt alone, and it may be that the majority of the officers available today are not sufficiently skilled for such a task.

Eighteen Oklahomans are candidates for a vacant seat in Congress. Washington doesn't seem to have lost any of its lure.

From the way things are shaping up in Southern Europe it won't be long until the world learns just how terrible those terrible Turks intend to be.

Panama has given the United States air bases and locations for anti-aircraft guns. Probably on the theory it is better protection to give than to receive.

Mrs. Roosevelt defends the right of women to wear funny hats. And there are probably those who will defend the right of Mrs. Roosevelt to defend the right of women to wear funny hats.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PATIENCE FIRST RULE WITH BABY

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have two daughters, one 19 months old and the other two weeks old. The older girl has always been afraid of people, even of her father for a while.

She is very hard to correct, it seems to me. She refuses to hand things to me when I ask her for them. I have always accepted anything which she brought to me voluntarily and thanked her for it and even praised her. I don't understand why she will not bring me things when I ask her to.

"She has a disagreeable little cry she gives when I correct her. At first I ignored it but she persisted so I tried a quick slap on the thigh. She was better for a time but since the baby came she's trying all her old tricks and some new ones.

"I seldom miss reading your articles in the paper. My husband reads them when he has time. We live on a farm and work long hours. I love to read to children and would like to have your list of books to read to the baby and young child. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed.

The Doctor's Reply

Be patient about your little girl's fears. See that strangers keep a safe distance from her until she has time to feel comfortable. Gradually this fear will wane.

I am sure you expect too much of the child. Go on approving her when she hands you things. Don't snatch an object from her hands. Take time enough to get her to choose to give it to you. Don't expect her to bring things to you on command. Ask her and let it go at that. Don't punish her if she does not accede. If you keep pain from such experiences and associate pleasure with them as often as possible, she will enjoy bringing you things by and by. Trust to patient persuasion.

Lately, don't command her to come to you. Ask her to do so and make such cooperation satisfying to her. But if you tell her to stop doing something, spank her if she does not obey at once. Don't repeat the command.

Ignore Cries
Yet when she cries on being corrected, better not punish. Merely ignore. Do it long enough and you will get results. As we punish or correct, the child naturally cries. It may be hard for her to get the connection if we punish when she cries.

This child is already showing some jealousy, and will have more of it. Therefore, you and Dad must show her much affection. Don't neglect to put your arm about her or hold her on your lap and cuddle her. Dad should also. This expression of affection will help assure her she is loved and worthy. You see the baby has much of your time and wins much attention from others.

I am glad your husband cooperates so intelligently with you. You must be a fine pair of parents.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think it very important to train the toddler to touch nothing in the store until it has been purchased?

A. I certainly do. Parents should be very exacting in this matter. When the tot gets an object in his hand, he supposes it is his. From there on to actual theft is not very far. If all parents who are honest themselves were to train the young child so, few of their children would steal from any store and in 20 years we would have many empty cells in jails, crime then would dwindle tremendously, no doubt.

Sun sets tonight 6:04. Sun rises tomorrow 6:15.

A Youngstown woman called the Bureau of Internal Revenue recently and wanted to know how much exemption she was entitled to if she owned a dog. When informed she could get nothing, she was real indignant stating that it cost her more to keep the dog than it does a baby. Ow! Wah!

An automobile case was being tried in the local courts, and a witness was being examined.
Said the lawyer, "Did you see the automobile approaching the convey truck?"
Witness—Yes and I said "that's a nice car, wasn't it?"

It is especially annoying, when anyone uses some queer new pronunciation, to discover that dictionaries agree with them.
Police and firemen lead unhappy lives. Just when things are going along smoothly in the outer world, domestic troubles creep up. A Roshoke copper was called away from directing traffic to go home and release his wife from a pair of his handcuffs, when the kiddies had slipped on her.

HARD TO TELL
The brakeman and conductor on an accommodation train could not agree on the pronunciation of a town along their run, spelled "Eurelia." When the train reached the point the passengers were startled to hear the conductor call out from the rear, "You're a liah."
Soon the brakeman chimed out from the rear, "You're a liah, you're a liah."

But a too long nose can be partially camouflaged by eyeglasses or spectacles if you must wear them; with a very low nose-arch; a too short nose by a high arch; and a too short or too long lip or chin by compensating arrangements of moustache or beard—beards however now belong to the dark ages. As your shoulders are rather narrow, you should not wear raglan coats. And you will appear more broad and virile if you will eschew vertical stripes, which always make a man look thinner.

Question: Frequently when I ride in a pay-as-you-leave bus, I meet and sit with men of my acquaintance. I never know whether I should pay my own fare or let the man whom I met by chance pay it. If he offers, should I let him pay?—Gladys.

Answer: Have your fare ready and hand it to the conductor if possible without letting the man see you get the coin from your purse. If he does see you, doubtless, he will offer to pay to which reply "I have the change right here." If he insists, and he should not let him pay, to avoid any embarrassing discussion.

Turks Peaceful Until They Are Aroused
Cite Kidnapping Of American Missionary
Armenian Massacres Are Also Remembered

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The affability of Herr Hitler's tone of voice in addressing himself to President Ismet Inönü, Turkish government at Ankara, isn't a surprise to Near Eastern experts in Washington.

Turkey's rather especially well understood here, due to past quite intimate relations between its old regime and our own state department.

American missionaries long ago established a very considerable educational institution known as Roberts college just across the Bosphorus from what was then Abdul Hamid's capital of Constantinople, now called Istanbul. It's still the Turk's biggest city, although they've transferred their seat of government to Ankara, formerly Angora.

They were proud of this college and treated our missionaries with a lot of consideration. To be sure, one of them was kidnapped once, but it wasn't done by a Turk. The kidnaper was a Macedonian bandit leader, Boris Sandansky. The missionary was Ellen M. Stone. The Turks did their best to catch Boris but he was too elusive. Finally the ransom he demanded was raised by popular subscription in this country and he turned Ellen loose. Shortly afterward I was in Constantinople and Hilmi Pasha, then minister of the interior, told me that, in his opinion, Boris and Ellen framed up the kidnapping between them, split the reward and parted on excellent terms. He said he thought that was why Boris was so impossible to catch. Ellen didn't want him to be caught any more than he did—not until they got the reward, to divvy between them.

Of course I'd no means of knowing whether or not Hilmi was right about it.

The story certainly does suggest a pretty wild region. Well, so it was wild, out in Macedonia.

Naturally Peaceful
But the Turks naturally are a very orderly people. My visit synchronized with the Young Turkist revolution against Sultan Abdul Hamid. He was in the immediate act of being overthrown. There wasn't any government. Nevertheless, a stranger like myself, was as safe as he would be on Broadway. There was plenty of fighting but innocent bystanders weren't molested a bit. Business went on as usual—no looting, no miscellaneous violence. One day I stopped in the Rue Cabristan, just opposite the American embassy, to get my boxes shipped. The kid set up his box outside the curb, the sidewalk being over-crowded. Along came about a battalion of Turkish cavalry, oc-

IN this capacity he is—so it was stated—to act as a general coordinator for all defense activities, as well as liaison officer between the President and the defense agencies. This scheme, of course, would let Mr. Hopkins, because of his close relationship to the President, in a position of very great importance. And it would practically submerge the Knudsen-Hillman board. There are two reasons for doubting that it will develop as outlined. One is that Mr. Hopkins is physically unable to work hard more than a few hours a day—some say two; others, seven. The other is that he is utterly lacking in experience for such a task—though, perhaps, that will not be regarded as a handicap.

AN even stranger proposal was reported last week by Time magazine, as being under consideration. This was to have a cabinet of construction of a super-cabinet of four members from the present cabinet of 10, but its striking feature is in connection with the office of secretary of state. The idea advanced was that Mr. Hull would retire and William O. Douglas, the most radical of the New Deal supreme court justices, take his place as secretary of state. Mr. Douglas, it was said, then would dominate defense policy, and thus the New Dealers would

JUST ANOTHER TRAGEDY
When a whole continent is bathed in tragedy, and whole peoples are overwhelmed in grief, it seems almost impertinent to pick out one man's tragedy for comment. And yet sometimes in all this welter of misery, an incident does stand out, illuminating the whole.

Derek Jan de Geer, an old man had been Prime Minister of the Netherlands. When his country fell to the conqueror, he escaped with his Queen, not beaten. But what the conquering hordes could not do to break his spirit was done by a simple human relationship.

His wife, left behind in Holland, became ill. The Nazis would not let her go, harmless though an old and ailing woman must necessarily be.

So de Geer surrendered to his destiny and his wife the spirit that nation could not break. He boarded a German plane at Lisbon and returned to occupied Holland, and the woman he could not bear to think of as alone, sick and helpless, among her enemies.

How many millions such tragedies are occurring daily in Europe, do you think, among quiet humble people whose suffering is not, can never be known?

"We may differ among ourselves, but there is no division in our loyalty to our country or our determination to protect the security of our people."

NEW YORK—Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors Corporation, explains the drag in defense production:
"Despite the recognized necessity for accelerating production of defense materials, a period of idleness is inevitable in shifting from one line of endeavor to another."

Defense Intrigue

WASHINGTON, March 13. THE other reason for concern over the defense program is the persistence with which the more advanced New Dealers intrigue to take it over. The President is surrounded by these itching individuals. They are his closest companions and friends. In the past their influence with him has been potent.

FROM the beginning they have been resentful of the industrialists whom Mr. Roosevelt brought in to run the defense organization. They recognized the necessity of bringing them in, but were determined that they should not run the show. First, they threw their weight against adoption of the old Baruch war industries board plan, which had really worked in the last war. Then they were insistent that there be no chairman of the original defense commission and finally, they were responsible for the present dual directorship by which labor leaders with "proquet authority" are used to balance the industrialists all the way down the line.

THE great question in Washington now is: What next? It is well understood that a new rearrangement is being planned, but exactly the form it will take no one definitely knows. Various forecasts have come from those usually well informed about the inner New Deal activities. One reliable pair of journalists insist that a new super-cabinet is to be erected, which will take over from the O. P. M. all matters of policy, leaving the latter to concentrate solely on production. Mr. Harry Hopkins, who not long ago was made a member of a so-called "production-planning board," is said to be slated as "secretary" of the new cabinet.

IN this capacity he is—so it was stated—to act as a general coordinator for all defense activities, as well as liaison officer between the President and the defense agencies. This scheme, of course, would let Mr. Hopkins, because of his close relationship to the President, in a position of very great importance. And it would practically submerge the Knudsen-Hillman board. There are two reasons for doubting that it will develop as outlined. One is that Mr. Hopkins is physically unable to work hard more than a few hours a day—some say two; others, seven. The other is that he is utterly lacking in experience for such a task—though, perhaps, that will not be regarded as a handicap.

EMERGENCY CLUB USES NEW SEWING MACHINES

At the regular meeting of the New Castle Hospital Emergency club, held Wednesday afternoon in the New Castle hospital, members were delighted to have the privilege of using five new electric sewing machines, which have been added to their sewing rooms. While the work of this organization has never wavered, their work being commendable in accomplishing large amounts of sewing for the institution, it is now possible to speed up the number of articles and linen garments for immediate use, with the new machines.

Yesterday, Mrs. John Griffith and Mrs. Dan Edgington presided in the role of hostesses.

Plans were made for a thirteen dinner to be held in the form of a St. Patrick's party, on Monday evening, March 17, at the home of Mrs. James Eagan. Their next regular meeting however, is slated for Wednesday, April 9, at the hospital.

Eckles; second vice president, Mrs. Henry Curtis; recording secretary, Mrs. T. G. Wallace; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ed Chapman; treasurer, Mrs. William Houston, and member-at-large, Mrs. H. W. Byler. "Flowers for Fragrance" was the topic for the meeting, but because of the serious illness of Mrs. Brown Henry, these impromptu pieces were read on the topic by Mrs. Howard Cox, Mrs. Clara Pinkerton and Mrs. Henry Kenenah. Mrs. Sturdevant gave a few timely remarks on the subject and then asked the club to consider joining with the other garden clubs in a pilgrimage to Hershey, Pa., this summer to view the rose gardens.

A unique feature of the meeting was the reading of original poems. First prize for the best poem went to Mrs. Henry Curtis, and second prize went to Mrs. Henry Kenenah. The hostess was aided by Miss Betty Hoagland and Lulu Mae Michaels in serving a luncheon.

Ellwood Rates In Plant Output

Ranks High Among Industrial Boroughs; Output $22,723,000 In '39

Ellwood City placed high among the 50 principal manufacturing boroughs of Pennsylvania in 1939, and Greenville and Grove City, Mercer county boroughs, manufactured goods representing huge values.

They helped create the grand output total of $774,726,869 attributed to those 50 boroughs and the incorporated town of Bloomsburg. Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr., today reported Ellwood had 24 industrial establishments that year employing 4,146 persons who were paid $7,322,300 in wages and salaries. Their total output was valued at $22,723,000.

Grove City, with 22 establishments, with 1,215 employed and with $1,620,500 paid to them, was responsible for products valued at $2,193,200.

Greenville, with 15 plants, with 1,069 employed and with wages of $1,751,200, turned out goods valued at $4,188,700.

Of the 50 boroughs Altoona, with a total product value of $124,793,800 (Jones & Laughlin steel produced most of it) was highest in total output ranking.

The state said Altoona reported 17 establishments. Braddock (with 26 plants) was second in output value while Ambridge and Donora, both industrial centers, placed next.

Borough figures for 1940 have not been compiled.

Report Some 30,000 Nurses Reply To Queries In State

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 13.—Gratified at the response of registered nurses of Pennsylvania to the national nursing inventory questionnaire, Mrs. Katherine Miller, U. S. Public Health Service, disclosed that about 30,000 of the 55,000 Pennsylvania nurses have replied.

"An overwhelming majority of the state's nurses have signified their willingness to serve their country either in the military or at home in their own hospitals," Mrs. Miller said.

Mrs. Miller, who is a registered nurse and general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Nurses' Association, said that every state in the union was participating in the drive to determine the nation's nursing strength.

"Nurses are preparing now for any eventuality and will not be caught napping should the need for their services arise," said Mrs. Miller.

Pitt To Organize General Hospital

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 13.—At the request of Washington army officials, the school of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh is organizing General Hospital 27, it was announced by Dean William S. McElroy.

It is planned to use this hospital in the same capacity as Base Hospital 27, organized at Pitt during World War I. The administrative services will be staffed by officers supplied by the regular corps of the army, with professional services for the hospital supplied by members of the faculties of the school of medicine and school of dentistry.

About 28 members of the faculty of the school of medicine and four members of the school of dentistry faculty will be issued commissions in the medical reserve corps and will constitute the professional staff of the Base Hospital.

When fully organized, the total commissioned personnel of General Hospital 27 will comprise 42 commissioned officers and 400 enlisted personnel, including 120 nurses.

Graham flour is named for Sylvester Graham (1794-1851), an American food reformer and advocate of vegetarianism. He introduced "Graham bread" from unbolted flour, and maintained that flour should include the outer hull of bran, because bread made from it was more healthful.

Three opinions were handed down by Judge W. Walter Brahm on Wednesday morning. In the matter of the county bridge over the Shenango River at Mahoning avenue extension commonly called the Gardner avenue viaduct the matter came before the court on an exception to the report of the inspectors who inspected the bridge after repairs had been made by the New Castle Dunlop Company. The inspectors reported the work done improperly and deducted $445 from a contract price of $11,967. Under the law an inspector can do this but the decision is subject to court review. The opinion says that the concrete showed cracks in it, according to testimony of witnesses. The exception is refused but the court cut down the deduction from $445 to $350 which amount it considers reasonable to put in new concrete.

In the motion for a new trial following the trial of the case of Margaret L. Cornelius versus Frank Genevivo the court refuses a new trial. This was a case where the car of the plaintiff was damaged when a truck of the defendant hit it at the bottom of a hill on a slippery day. The verdict of the jury was one dollar for the defendant. The court held the jury had returned a verdict which was fair.

In the case of Dominick Pezzulli administrator of the estate of Charles Pezzulli, versus Carmen D'Ambrosio and petition of the defendant to put in an affidavit of defense is refused with permission to him to renew his petition with certain changes in it. The case is one in which Charles Pezzulli was killed while he was sled riding near Carbon, Pa. It was alleged that the truck of the defendant had killed the boy. The defendant denied that his truck had hit anyone. The petition for the purpose of putting in an admission that it was the defendant's truck. The case was tried once and the jury disagreed.

In the case of the commonwealth against Louis Charles, charged with aggravated assault and battery, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty with the costs divided between the plaintiff and defendant. The prosecutor was Curley Allen, sometimes known as Abraham Alley.

On Wednesday afternoon in court room two the case against Anthony Funari was taken up. He is charged with aggravated assault and battery by his brother-in-law, Joseph Panella.

"Dies Committee" For Pennsylvania May Be Provided

Bi-Partisan Measure Is Introduced Into State Legislature To Authorize Probe

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 13.—A bi-partisan measure was introduced in the house Wednesday providing for a legislative commission to carry out Gov. Arthur H. James' request for a "little Dies committee" in Pennsylvania.

The measure, sponsored by Reps. George W. Cooper, (R) Allegheny, and Leon J. Kolankiewicz, (D) Philadelphia, would set up a commission of four house members and three senators to be known as the commission on un-American propaganda activities. A $100,000 appropriation was asked.

Members of the commission would have no power.

The committee would investigate all subversive activities, including those attributed to Nazis, Communists and Fascists, and report its findings to the legislature by Feb. 1, 1943.

It would be empowered to employ investigators and experts and to issue subpoenas, provided that the "powers of the committee and its investigators shall not be used to prosecute persons holding unpopular views or be used to interfere with the constitutional right of freedom of speech."

Governor James, it was recalled, in his message to the 1941 legislature asked for the creation of a "little Dies committee" to investigate groups and individuals suspected of engaging in subversive activities.

Draftee's School To Meet Tonight

Legionnaires Will Be At Armory To Instruct Prospective Soldiers

Representatives of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, under the direction of Chairman Edward D. Pritchard, will again be at the armory this evening, for the purpose of instructing men who expect to be called into the service shortly.

At this school, the basic fundamentals of infantry drill are taught, and much good has been accomplished in the past. Any youth, whether about to be inducted into the service, who wishes to take advantage of this training, will be welcomed at the school.

Dr. T. G. McCleary Gives Library Book

"The Autobiography of Mark Twain," in two volumes, has been received at the local public library, as a gift of Dr. Thomas G. McCleary, formerly of this city and now of Pittsburgh.

The inscription for the volumes was composed by Dr. McCleary's mother, Mrs. S. E. McCleary of Boyles avenue, and is as follows: "This autobiography of Mark Twain in two volumes, is given by Dr. Thomas G. McCleary in loving memory of his wife Agnes Petterman McCleary, who went to her Heavenly home November 18, 1933, that date being her 62nd anniversary of birth. She was respected and loved by all who knew her."

Mrs. S. E. McCleary will be 97 years of age on March 18, this year. Dr. McCleary who was formerly an active educator is now retired and wintering in Florida.

Large Damages Asked For Crash

(Special To The News)
MERCER, March 13.—Clifford Sweesy, West Middlesex, today was named defendant in a suit filed at Mercer by a Pittsburgh man for $7,870 for injuries he and his wife received last August 24 in an automobile accident on the Perry highway near Sheskevillie.

Cars driven by Sweesy and Thomas A. Coates, Pittsburgh, collided and seriously injured Mrs. Coates. Coates claims the collision was caused by Sweesy's reckless driving.

The Great Game Of Politics

be firmly established in the saddle and the industrialists relegated to a subordinate role.

OF course, there are a few things wrong with this idea, too. One is that Mr. Hull, who has a far stronger place in the esteem and affection of the American people than any other member of the administration, has no intention of resigning. The suggestion of supplanting him with such a man as Mr. Douglas shows the feverish state of mind of those who hatch these plots. The public reaction to that would be very bad. Another is the fact that, much as Mr. Douglas enjoys these backstage conspiracies to take him off the bench, and clearly as he loves to pose as being bored by the enforced aloofness of supreme court membership, it is unlikely that he is foolish enough to relinquish the dignity and security of his present position for any such dubious arrangement as this. Yet that it has been discussed by his friends—and with him—there is little room for doubt.

NEW suggestions for rearranging the defense organization, so as to make its direction more dominantly New Dealish, appear every week. They emanate from the same little group of radicals who conceived the third-term movement nearly two years ago and who are still in closer White House communion than anyone else. In general, their disposition is to look upon all the industrialists as incurable public enemies—except a few like Mr. Averil Harriman, who have been pro-New Deal since 1932. In the end, their hope is to strip all the businessmen here of real power, reduce Mr. Knudsen, whom they have disparaged for months, to the role of a good-will factory inspector and speedmaker.

IN brief, they are eager to make this defense job a New Deal job and get it out of the hands of men who have "always been against us." Linked with the desire to go this is the desire to get in position to implement their ideas for further social and economic reforms along New Deal lines when the war ends. How much the President knows about these plans, and how far he sympathizes with them, no one is in position to say with certainty. What is known is that they are in the minds of the men who have been closest to him and most influential with him in the past. What is further known is that these New Dealers, to use one of their own words, are constantly "needling" him to go in their direction. These plotters will not get all they want, but the best judgment is that soon or late, they will get somewhere. And that is disturbing.

What's What At A Glance

cupping the whole roadway. I wanted to hunt my hole but the kid hung onto my ankle. The officer in charge gave an order and the entire military outfit, swerving, politely went around me.

I've referred to the United States embassy. I got well acquainted with Louis Einstein, our first secretary, and asked him why, considering the city's complete state of anarchy, things were so civilized.

"It's because," he said, "this population inherently is decent." And Louis Einstein was an authority.

The Armenians, having been Turkish a good deal longer, probably wouldn't endorse this verdict. I've always had a suspicion, though, that the Armenians must have been maddeningly aggravating, or so nice a crowd wouldn't have massacred 'em.

But "beware the fury of a patient man." Notoriously he's the ugliest fighter under heaven, once he gets him started. The Turks, being superbly-patient, are superbly-vicious if they ultimately go on the war-path. The Armenians can testify to that effect.

One For The Book
And have those Turks got nerve! Well, while I was in Constantinople (now Istanbul) I had occasion to cross the Golden Horn in a horse cab. At one end of the bridge was a gang of Young Turks. At the other end was a party of Abdul Hamidites. They were shooting at one another, sweeping that bridge with death and destruction. The cabman drove onto it calmly, bound to cross because that was what I'd hired him to do. It's a toll bridge. The toll's a few coppers. All I had was a piece of silver. I tossed it to the collector, hollering to the driver to go ahead in a heck of a hurry. But not so you could notice it. The driver wouldn't move until the collector had counted out my change deliberately.

My notion is that Herr Hitler doesn't care to get into a rumput with such an aggregation if he can avoid it. Isn't that why he's so would-be pacifist toward 'em?

If it were a war between Germany and Turkey exclusively, it goes almost without saying that the Germans would win. On the strength of numerical superiority. The Turks may not be overly well equipped with arms and munitions, either. All the same, if they can be placated, they're worth placating.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood cells. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for World's Tonic, used successfully by thousands for over 20 years. It gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood cells. World's Tonic is good for young and old. It contains no habit forming drugs nor narcotics. Get World's Tonic at Eckerd's, Paisley's and all other leading Drug Stores. (J. S.)

AROUND CITY HALL

Although Director of Streets William H. Dunlap said he could not give the exact cost of ashes and snow removal during the past several weeks he did say that the cost of ashing streets, removing snow and keeping a force of street workers on duty day and night would be over a thousand dollars. He could not tell the number of truckloads of ashes used. He has directed Commissioner W. G. Fleming to provide him with a report of recent ashing and snow removal activities.

City council is in an indignant mood. For years members have contended cities should receive a portion of the gasoline tax refund from the state. It now goes to counties. D. O. Davies, safety director, today pointed out that in Allentown there was paid into the state approximately $1,337,000 as the result of motor car licenses, drivers license and fuel tax yet the state spent only about $8,000 for repair of the streets there. The council believes the legislature should see that cities such as New Castle get at least a fair percentage of this money back. The cost of state repairs to streets doesn't compare highly with what the citizens pay the state.

Joseph D. Alexander, director of parks today stated that within the next 10 days or two weeks, improvements will get under way in Cascade Park. The improvements will consist of general repairs. Some of the buildings will be painted and made to appear more inviting. The grounds also will be put in shape for the picnic season. Throughout winter months, Michael Ross has been rearing plants in the greenhouse for the park flower beds.

More New Castle And Lawrence Co. Folks In Florida

By JAMES P. CALDWELL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—Mike Fazzone, well known New Castle real estate operator, and his boss, Mrs. Fazzone, arrived here last Saturday evening from Miami. I met them ten minutes after they had parked their car. Mike was worried. He had been shaved before he left Miami and now he was needing it again. He asked for a haircut at the nearest barber shop. I learned that he had come up by way of the famous Okeechobee swamp, where the fertility is so great that it affects the atmosphere. It was either that or some after-sunbathing lotion used by the barber at Miami that had done the trick. Here's hoping that it wasn't the latter for one shave a day takes plenty of a man's time from the enjoyment of "the more abundant life."

I found the Fazzones were home-sick after nearly a month spent on the bathing beaches, and were eager to get back to good old New Castle by the shortest route. They may even reach home before this letter.

May Raise Peacocks

Among other New Castle people to arrive here recently are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fulkerson of Pine Street. They are making a tour of the state and will go on to Miami. While here Howard became greatly interested in a big peacock farm near the city. The farm is located in a grove of giant live oaks, replete with Spanish moss. There are several hundred birds, and Fulkerson spent two hours admiring them. He says that when he returns from the Pennsylvania railroad he may start a peacock farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emery, the latter a recently retired Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad man, left here last Friday for St. Cloud where they will visit the Humphreys and New Castle tourists who are sojourning in this stronghold of orange juice. Frank is taking his first long vacation and has worn blisters on the green benches in his efforts to get used to loafing.

Must Have a Hobby

There are thousands of people like Frank. They look forward to the time when they will retire, later to find that the dream of leisure life is like a mirage on the highway, and they face the realities of disappointed hopes.

It is said that there is only one way for a man who has led an active life to be happy in retirement. He must have a hobby, even if it is nothing better than setting a hen. I started to train for retirement in early youth by learning to play the violin. I thought I was making headway until I overheard a conversation between two neighbors over a back yard fence. As near as I could make out they were plotting to kill me. I took the hint, made a bouffe of my fiddle and moved out of the neighborhood. Ever since I have trained for retirement on Wheeling taxis.

Some Other Tourists

But enough of my personal memories. Among other New Castle people who have scoured the highways and sampled the green benches of St. Petersburg recently are Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Kennenburgh and Mrs. C. J. Henschel, Mr. and Mrs. William Dewberry and Mr. and Mrs. George Wyman.

From Ellwood City, John Barbati is registered, and from Slippery Rock, Mrs. William Andrews and daughter, Miss Jean, and S. P. Stoughton. There are a lot of local people who are coming up from Miami and other points, who stay only a day or two here and do not register. The total registration this winter has passed the $5,000 mark.

Happy Birthdays

This morning I dispatched a birthday card to Fred L. Renz, president of The News company, who is inspecting the beaches at Miami. Birthdays seem to come around regularly, whether we want them or not, and it may be just as well, we'd probably grow old anyhow.

I have always maintained that if one has anything good to say about a man he should say it while the man is living, and I have this to say of Fred: I have been with The News for over 40 years, and in all that time I do not recall his ever having said an angry or unkind word to me. And so far as I can remember, I never said any to him, which may not be so remarkable since he weighs in at about 100 pounds more than I do. Anyway, you have to be closely associated with a man to know his true character, and I'm writing my sentiments through a genuine regard for a long and enduring friendship. This troublesome times I'm a little concerned over Fred's standing offer of $3 for every child born on his birthday. If defense measures reach the point where babies are turned out on the assembly line, it's going to be terribly expensive.

In God's First Temple

Sunday morning we attended the Presbyterians community church, located about six miles out in the country, midway between the city and the Gulf of Mexico. It stands in a grove of towering pines and waving palms. Its architecture is Spanish, with a gothic ornament on one end in which is encased a marble cross. But the striking feature of the church you can hear the sermon without getting out of your automobile. Loud speakers protrude from the windows on all sides. There are rows of green benches on the south side. You have three choices: go inside, sit on green benches or in your car. Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton is the pastor. He has only taken two short vacations in ten years, and has built up the congregation from a small Methodist beginning to a large community church attended by all denominations.

We arrived a half hour before the service began and found hundreds of cars already parked around the church. There were a half dozen men directing traffic, and by the time the organ prelude breathed out its welcome, the surrounding field looked like a county fair. The men seem to like the plan since they can smoke in their cars, and possibly be fitted for escape if needed after. The women like it because they don't have to worry about their hats being blown straight.

Contrasts In Spring

Springtime in Florida is vastly different from spring in Pennsylvania, or even in the Rockies. Kate Smith doesn't push the moon up over the mountain, but her friends, the mermaids, push it up out of the sea.

There is no great change in nature here; for the trees are forever green and the flowers always blooming. Just now the nearest approach to a change is seen in the live oak trees. They are shedding the leaves that have adorned them for a year, but the process is so slow, that the tree is green with its new dress by the time the old leaves have fallen. Some other trees shed in the same manner, but the palms, like evergreens, remain the same the year 'round.

The birds don't come back in the spring, like they do up north. They're already here. Some are now packing their grips for the trip north. The mocking bird will remain. It is the real harbinger of spring in the southland, just as the robin is in the north. Like the robin, the mockingbird does not live long in captivity. If a young bird is caught and placed in a cage, the mother bird, if she can get to it, will bring it poison berries rather than see it deprived of liberty.

Thus, the spirit of freedom, for which our forefathers fought, and for which we are now making a last ditch fight, is found in the breasts of our little feathered songsters.

It's the mating season here now. Every bush and tree resounds with the melody of song, just as it will in the north in a few weeks when the robins tune their throats. Both thrill you with their love songs, but the mockingbirds have been to night school and are a whole orchestra in themselves.

Dogs Are In Demand

If Meseeall would establish a branch dispensary here he wouldn't have any trouble in finding homes for dogs. Many women, disappointed in their search for a husband on the green benches, turn to dogs as a substitute. Breeders are getting wise to this and now you will find them peddling dogs on leashes and in baskets.

One day last week I was attracted by a crowd of about 50 women who were hovering about something on a green bench on Central avenue. Jumping to the conclusion that they must have cornered a rich bachelor, I mounted a green bench to get what it was all about. There was a man sitting on the bench with five black and white pups in a basket, and the women were jostling each other to get a chance to fondle and kiss them. This is no fairy tale but an actual happening. The dogs didn't seem to know what it was all about. One dear little puppy took sick. Two much lipstick.

All About Fat Men

Speaking of fat men, just a few lines about one who is at the White City trailer camp here. His name is Lester Buchanan, a grocer from Portage, Wis. He tips the scales at 526 pounds and has a waist measure of 5 feet 7 inches. He has a wife, daughter and a dog.

He told me that he had spent 27 years in the grocery business and made enough money to buy a trailer. That was three years ago, and he has been taking a vacation in the trailer every year since. This year he traveled 11,000 miles, going first to California, and then coming here.

I asked him if it is true that fat men are always good natured. "Sure," he replied, "it takes them so long to get mad clear through."

Grandmother Peeved

Every city has its traffic problems, but here in St. Petersburg, with thousands of cars from every state in the union, it is a real headache. To illustrate: I was standing at the intersection of Sixth street and Seventh avenue watching the shining autos money along at 60 to 70 miles an hour, when I noticed an elderly lady, walking with a cane, hesitating about crossing the street.

Wishing to do our good deed for the day, I asked if I could help her across. She looked to be the salt of the earth—one of those motherly souls to whom one could go for comfort in an hour of distress. She smiled at my offer of assistance, and replied, "Sure, these auto devils scare hell out of me."

Laying For Chapman

I have a bone to pick with Ed G. Chapman, but it won't be a fish bone. About 10 days ago he met me on the street. He said that he was going fishing the next day and would have me down to his cottage in the evening for a fish fry. I fasted all the next day, and the next thing I learned he was back in New Castle. I am gradually getting back my weight, but I ain't be such a sucker again.

Pure Atmosphere

One thing you like about Florida is the pure atmosphere. No grime of smoke, except from cigarets and tobacco. When you put on a clean shirt, you make a cross on the calendar, so you will know when to take it off.

North Hill Unit Sends Funds For Beds To Britain

The North Hill Unit of the British War Relief Society, Inc., is working hard to live up to its slogan of "A hospital bed for a month for Britain."

One completely equipped hospital bed costs forty dollars and the unit has just sent funds for four more beds, making a total of six sent since the unit was organized January 1.

Jurisdiction Of Legislature In Case Questioned

Wilkinson Files Answer To Legislative Action Started By Jones

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 13.—Rep. Don Wilkinson, Republican, of Luzerne, has questioned the jurisdiction of the House to investigate his conduct during the 1937-39 session. Rep. Homer S. Brown, chairman of the House Judiciary General Committee, disclosed today.

Brown, who heads a committee appointed to determine whether the House can take any action on a resolution by Rep. Presley N. Jones, (D) New Castle, seeking an investigation of Wilkinson's conduct, said that the Luzerne Republican had filed a demurrer. Jones said he would file an answer on Monday.

Following this, said Brown, his committee would report its decision to the House. In the event the jurisdiction of the House is upheld by the committee, Brown said he presumed Speaker of the House Elmer Kilroy, (D) Philadelphia, would appoint a committee of five "to inquire whether he (Wilkinson) has been guilty of such misconduct as could be grounds for his expulsion from the House of Representatives."

In the event the committee's report upholds Wilkinson's demurrer, it would be up to the House to determine whether it held jurisdiction, said Brown.

In his demurrer Wilkinson stated that the present House had no jurisdiction over the proceedings of another legislature because he contended the House was not a continuous body.

Jones' resolution for an investigation of Wilkinson's conduct was introduced on January 28. The New Castle Democrat accused his colleague of having sponsored county tax collecting legislation for the purpose of deriving a private pecuniary profit for himself as a collector of such taxes. Wilkinson operates a delinquent tax collection service in several counties. He has denied Jones' accusations.

SEVENTH WARD
NEWSLibrary Leads In Circulation Here

Mahoningtown Branch Library
Loans Most Books During February

According to the February library report, compiled by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, the Mahoningtown branch library, located on East Madison avenue, led all other city branches in the number of books circulated last month.

The report indicated that 2,852 books were taken out of the Seventh Ward Branch during February for home use. Taking into consideration that the branch is open only two days each week, this figure is quite high.

Southside Branch came in second place with a total circulation of 2,604 books.

BITS OF NEWS
IN WARD AREA

A government car bearing war department license plates went through the Seventh ward district Wednesday afternoon. The automobile was en route west.

Property owners along North Liberty street could easily improve their property by paving the portion of ground between the sidewalk and the curb. At this time of the year this section along the sidewalks is quite soft and slushy.

In order to be able to completely illuminate the property of the Pennsylvania Power Company at the Cedar street electrical substation, small spot lights have been erected at intervals all around the fence which surrounds the grounds.

Ice and snow along Mahoning avenue has most of the storm sewers blocked and Wednesday, quite a volume of water lay in the street from the viaduct almost to the Cedar street intersection.

Some motorists evidently care little for pedestrians judging from the way they drive in wet weather. Many a person on the sidewalk has been splashed by cars during the past few days.

MRS. J. T. CLARK

Meeting of the Beaver Patrol of Boy Scout Troop 4 was held Tuesday evening.

With Clair Arbie, Jr., in charge, the boys practiced Morse code work for a portion of the time. William Weitz, Jr., announced that educational motion pictures may be secured. The patrol will secure and show "Men in the Making" and "America's Heritage" sometime within the next two weeks.

Next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, March 18, at the West Cherry street home of Frank Calvert.

SEE ROBIN HERE

What is believed to be Mahoningtown's first robin of the season was seen Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Huttnik of East Clayton street, in a neighbor's yard.

MEETING FRIDAY

Ann Evans, North Liberty street, will entertain members of the Hi-Try Missionary society of the Madison Avenue Christian church Friday evening.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be kidney trouble. The kidneys are Nature's chief means of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 1 1/2 pints of urine daily. When kidney function becomes poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent urination, passages with straining and burning, sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. They are sold in every drug store. They give happy relief and will bring 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dr. Dafoe's Column

On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MUST GUARD AGAINST SPOILING THE CHILD WHO IS DEFORMED

The worst thing a mother and father of a child who is deformed can do is to spoil him. Of course, it is a serious thing to spoil any child, but it is much more important not to spoil a child who has something wrong with him. And the tendency to do more for such a child is much greater than if he were normal in all respects.

Of course, as I have advised in these columns, if at all possible, surgery should be employed to try and correct any deformity before a child is old enough to be upset about the way he differs from other children. But sometimes this isn't possible. When this is the unfortunate case, then the parents should begin early to give this child special training.

I know that a mother and father feel so very sorry for a deformed child that they want to do everything in the world for him. Too often the result is a child who gets his own way all the time. This only makes his adaptation to circumstances all the harder later in life when he goes out into the world.

In his home he finds that he can turn his physical shortcomings into an advantage. But out in the world the reverse will be true. I often think the most important thing to teach him is to be self-reliant and to face difficulties squarely. If his early home training has been that because he is crippled or deformed he can get away with things that his normal brothers and sisters can't he'll try that when he meets the world and he'll learn a needed lesson too late. He must be taught to be even more self-reliant than a normal child.

Since children who fall into this category usually face a series of operations in an effort to correct the deformity, he should be prepared for them by being told all about them. I know one such child whose parents shrank from telling him he was being taken to the doctor's office to be operated on for the first time. The result is that to this day, he is frightened stiff of doctors and hospitals and operations. Don't coax such a child into a doctor's office on a pretext.

Such a child must also be taught to readjust his sense of values so he won't mourn the loss of money, friends, romance or any of the things his deformity may deprive him of. If he learns early that true friendship exists only in those who like him for himself, whatever his deformity, he will have gone a long way towards solving his problem.

Children who are the victims of orthopedic deformities need corrective gymnastics and physical therapy. Massages and special exercises, both active and passive, can do wonders toward correcting such deformities.

Sometimes exercises can correct crossed eyes and then an operation isn't necessary at all. Little Marie Dionne shows us this is so. When she was born she had a tendency toward crossed eyes. Her trouble was that the muscles controlling the eyes weren't balanced. One set was too strong and pulled an eye out of line. Today her eyes are straight as anybody's and she didn't have an operation. We corrected the trouble by eye exercises.

NERVOUS FROM RESTLESS NIGHTS? Is It Your Kidneys?

Active, normal-acting kidneys and bladder expel from the blood excess acids and poisons—that's their health-giving job.

If kidneys are sluggish or not active enough, these harmful acids and poisons may stay in the blood and cause much misery and distress, and bring on ill health in this regard.

For instance, lazy kidneys may make you nervous if they cause you to lose sleep because of getting up frequently at night. Also may cause dizzy spells, backache, leg cramps or swollen ankles.

Better try a 35-cent box of GOLD MEDAL HAZELDEN Oil Capsules—a real kidney tonic and stimulant that may do you a lot of good.

They have been helping people for scores of years to relieve their aches and pains when caused by lazy, sluggish kidneys.

But be sure and ask for and get Gold Medal Hazelden Oil Capsules—pure and original. Don't be an easy mark and accept a cheap substitute—Look for the GOLD MEDAL on the box—the sign of purity—35 cents.

SCHOOL BOARD SESSION BRIEF

Routine Matters Given Attention At Meeting On Wednesday Night

Little time was taken Wednesday night when the New Castle school board held its regular monthly business meeting in the administration building on East street. The board finished its work by 9:10. In the absence of the president C. L. Shira, vice president Arthur B. Foster presided.

The board voted to permit the use of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium on April 25 by the ladies of the Croton Methodist church for an entertainment.

School room and art supplies will be advertised for early this year, due to a constant fluctuation in prices. The advertisements will be prepared for publishing in April instead of waiting until the summer as has usually been done.

Secretary John B. Bechtol notified the board that one third of the fire insurance on school properties will expire on May 1, a total of $959,500. Director Clyde M. Whitaker moved that the board have the proper ties surveyed with the idea of ascertaining if some of the buildings are not insured too high. The budget committee will handle the investigation.

Secretary John B. Bechtol was authorized to purchase grass seed for use on school lawns next spring, the cost to be not more than $35.

Left handers were given a break by the board Wednesday night when 36 left handed arm chairs were authorized to be purchased. Superintendent C. C. Green told the board that left handed students were handicapped in trying to use the usual right handed chairs with arm desk attached.

The board voted to use two funds of money, totalling nearly $1900, which had been raised by students of the Aiken and Terrace schools. The money has been in the school treasury since the two schools were abandoned. It will be used to purchase books for the Benjamin Franklin library and the books will serve as a memorial to Miss Anna R. Perry, a school principal in the New Castle for many years, now retired.

Bills in the amount of $7016.37 were authorized paid.

Dairymen Fight For Milk Price

Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association Takes Lead At Hearing Today

Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association took the lead this morning at a public hearing before the Pennsylvania Milk Control Association in Pittsburgh, to maintain the present level of milk prices for dairy farmers in the Pittsburgh area.

The present order of the Milk Control Commission provides that farmers' price for milk used in fluid channels be reduced thirty cents per hundredweight on May 1, and that milk used for cream, 20 cents per hundredweight.

A few weeks ago, directors of the D. C. S. A., which markets the milk of some 7,000 dairymen in the Pittsburgh area, petitioned the Milk Control Commission for a hearing, along with other dairymen's organizations.

If farmers are to receive their cost of production, plus a reasonable return for labor, stated the representative of the association, "they are entitled to at least $2.74 per cwt. for their milk." This figure it was stated is based on the cost of producing milk in Western Pennsylvania, as determined by a study made by Pennsylvania State college and includes 50 cents per hour to the farmer for his labor.

Experiment With War Shelters For School Children

(International News Service)

NEW MILFORD, Conn., March 13 —One hundred school girls and 15 teachers of the Dalton school, New York City, have been living and carrying on their studies in a camouflaged war shelter, three miles from New Milford, for the last 10 days, it was disclosed today.

Purpose of the school hideaway, it was said, is to determine how rapidly suitable shelters could be built and the studies of children continued on a peace-time scale in the event New York City was subject to aerial bombardment. The plan is being sponsored by a small group of New Yorkers.

Barnett Foundry And Machine Company Plant At Irvington Destroyed

RAPID FIRE SPREAD
GIVES SABOTAGE HINT

(International News Service)
IRVINGTON, N. J., March 13.—Police today sought possible sabotage in the fire which last night swept the Barnett Foundry and Machine company plant, holders of defense contracts, causing an estimated $1,500,000 worth of damage.

The blaze, which started at 6 p. m. last night and took six hours to bring under control, destroyed practically the entire one-story brick and wood building housing the plant. Six firemen were burned fighting the flames.

The plant had been working on sub-contracts from the Sperry Gyroscope company, key makers of technical equipment for the army and navy. Work also was being done on defense sub-contracts from the American Can Co.

Although cause of the blaze has not yet been determined, Acting Chief of Police William Abeles reported that sabotage was suspected because of the rapidity with which the flames spread. It was believed federal agents would join the probe later today.

New Wilmington Petition Presented To Congress Session

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—Representative Louis G. Graham, of Beaver, has presented to the House of Representatives a petition from a group of New Wilmington citizens urging that sale of intoxicating liquor be prohibited in the vicinity of military centers. The petition has been referred to the military affairs committee.

The petition urges "enactment of appropriate legislation to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors and beer near army posts, army encampments, or any other place where men in the military service of the United States or in training for the same are stationed or kept, and in towns or cities easily accessible to such men."

Detroit Evangelist Speaks At Second U. P. As Mission Guest

DR. JOHN ZOLLER

The City Rescue Mission tonight brings Dr. John Zoller, eminent Detroit preacher, here for two evening anniversary services.

Dr. Zoller preaches in Second U. P. church, County Line street, tonight and Friday night at 7:30, following brief organ recitals. Joining New Castle residents will be delegations from neighboring towns whose radios have brought Dr. Zoller's voice to them.

Thousands who have heard him will never forget his fervent "Take America Back to God" plea. His message here will take that theme. Vocal solos tonight will be by Clinton Jones, Jr., tenor of the famed Westinghouse quartet and a soloist in the quartet of First Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh.

The Second church auditorium was reserved for the special services so that large crowds may be accommodated. Superintendent Archie Gibson this morning met Dr. Zoller in Erie, to which city he came from Detroit by plane.

Four Departments Of Ambridge Plant In Labor Dispute

(International News Service)

AMBRIDGE, Pa., March 13.—Four departments of the American Bridge company plant halted production today when CIO-steel workers organizing committee members refused to work with non-union employees.

Intensification of the organization drive for non-union members came after two weeks of preliminary activity and in the wake of the SWOC's formal call for new contract negotiations with U. S. Steel Corporation, American Bridge is a "big steel" subsidiary.

The union planned a noon meeting, departments closed were the beam, column shop, upper and lower receiving yards and paint shop. The paint and main departments were closed down on the night shift when workers took similar action.

Dues picketing went ahead at the plant entrance with no disorders, several delinquent members were turned away.

Senate Leaders Reject Demand For Brown Probe

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 13—Senate Republican leaders today rejected a Democratic demand for an investigation into the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown which followed a dispute with Gov. Arthur H. James over the placing of state advertising.

Senate Majority Leader James A. Gutz, (R) Allegheny, and Sen. Oscar J. Tallman, (R) Lehigh, chairman of the State Government Committee, made it clear that no favorable action would be taken on the resolution introduced by Sen. John H. Dent, (D) Westmoreland. The resolution is now in Tallman's committee.

"This is an administrative matter. We don't see that there's anything to investigate," commented Gutz, while Tallman, agreeing, added: "If they want an investigation, then let them introduce a bill giving a committee power to subpoena witnesses and records and make an appropriation to defray its expenses."

Advised of this House Majority Leader Leo A. Achtermann, of Monroe, said he would inform the House Rules Committee of the Senate action on Monday, when the legislature reconvenes. Both houses adjourned yesterday after the usual three-day session.

THE LORD'S SUPPER

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The last supper

"As often as ye eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till He come."—I Cor. 11:26.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
"The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 16 is Luke 22:1-38, the Golden Text being I Cor. 11:26. "As often as ye eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till He come."

The feast of unleavened bread called the Passover, was near. It commemorated the time when the Jewish people were captives in Egypt and the angel of the Lord sprinkled blood on all the doors of the Israelites so that they should be passed over, while the first-born of every Egyptian should perish.

Jesus and His disciples were to celebrate this feast in Jerusalem. In the meantime, the Lord's enemies, the chief priests and the scribes, plotted how they might kill him. "Then," says Luke, "entered Satan into Judas surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the 12." How could Judas, having had the wonderful privilege of being with Jesus and knowing Him well, have plotted against Him? It is inconceivable, but Judas went to these wicked men, enemies of his Master, and said he would betray Him to them for a small sum of money about $20. He did not dare do it when the common people, who loved present seem to understand what He meant.

"And He took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is My body, which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me."

Taking the cup of wine He said: "This cup is the new testament in My blood, which is shed for you."

These men who had been intimate with the Lord all the time of His teaching, seemed from the account not to take alarm even when He said: "But, behold, the hand of him that betrayeth Me is with Me on the table."

They did indeed begin inquiring among themselves, who of them it might be that should do so degrading a thing, but then they commenced the dispute as to who should be accounted the greatest. Jesus had told them, you remember, that he who would be greatest among them should be the servant of the others. That is a vital point for us all to remember. Not he nor she who wears the finest clothes, lives in the most luxury or sets himself up as superior to others really is the greatest among us. It may be the humblest servant. If he or she serves others by loving personal sacrifice, he or she is greater than a king or queen.

Jesus loved Simon Peter, but He also knew wherein he was weak. So He said to Peter that He had been praying for him that his faith would not fail. "Lord, I am ready to go with Thee, both into prison and to death," asserted Peter. Jesus must have smiled sadly as He answered: "I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me."

The Lord then told His disciples that they should hereafter be armed with purse and scrip and a sword to protect themselves in their travels.

Three Tourney Battles Tonight

Three More Class B First Round Games On Menu For Tournament Fans

CROWDS TO DATE QUITE PLEASING

Three more first-round Class B division tourney battles will be staged at the George Washington High floor this evening starting at 7 o'clock. So far the tourney crowds have been very pleasing to the committee.

In the first game on the night's card the New Castle Indians battle the Wilkins A. C. team. The Indians were in the tourney last year and made a fine impression, going to the finals in Class B. The Wilkins A. C. team is a new one this year, but reported as fast.

Scorpions Vs. Bessemer
The second game will start at 8 o'clock and will bring together the Bessemer Indians against the Scorpions. The Indians were in Class A last year and won two games before bowing out. They are composed of former Bessemer "high" stars. Just what kind of a lineup the Scorpions will use is not known, this being another new team this year.

The third game at 9 o'clock will send the Carm A. C. into a tussle with the Johnson Bronze team. This should be the classic battle on the program as the players are friendly rivals and have played on the same team with each other at times. The Carm team hails from the west side district and is coached by Ducky Guinahan. On the Bronze roster will be such well known stars as the Marcella brother, Tommy Strassbaugh, Vic Ross, Tommy Denahan, the veteran Frank Reed and others. The tourney committee is well satisfied with the manner in which the classic has been going all year and with the response shown by the fans and followers.

Gus Puts Strong Team In Tourney

Gus Stornovsky, well known local sportsman has entered a strong team in the Class A division of the City-County tourney. The team is made up of collegiate stars all residents of Lawrence county. They will play the Gersons next Monday night at 8 o'clock in the second game of the tourney.

The Gersons will have many well known stars such as—Tom Coyle, Chick Duffin, Jimmy Dart and Eddie on all of the Slippery Rock varsity team, also Bus Strassbaugh, Stidinger of Grove City college, Newton, and Ballard from Westminster college.

The team is being coached by Johnny Ragsdale, and managed by George Lamorella.

JEWELS WIN GAME

The Jewels defeated the Globetrotters in a House League game at the "Y" last night 41 to 35, with Rick Beck and Jones starring. Best for the losers was—Davies and Francis. At the half the Jewels led 22 to 14.

SAVOLDI HOPES TO WIN FROM 'ANGEL'

Winner Over McCoy Hopes To Even Up With 'Angel'

Two of the best known grapplers in the mat game will make a second bow to a local audience Monday night when The Angel and Joe Savoldi meet in The Arena. It will be a return bout, the Angel won at Youngstown recently. In his first appearance here The Angel vanquished "Lord" Albert Mills and in Joe's first appearance, Savoldi won from Bibber McCoy when the Bibber refused to stop wrestling at the end of the sixth round.

The Angel, whose right name is Maurice Tillet and whose home is in Rheims, France, has not been in the United States very long. However, his odd appearance coupled to the fact he remains undefeated has caused him to become one of the game's sensations.

McCoy Utters Plea
Savoldi formerly attended Notre Dame. While a student there he became one of the most famous football players in the world. After he left the institution he received an opportunity to take wrestling lessons and he has become very adept and hopes to win this time from The Angel.

Bibber McCoy, vexed because he was disqualified here, pleaded for another opportunity of showing here and it was decided that if a capable opponent could be secured for the rough Bibber he would be put back Monday night. There will be a third bout on the card.

The Jefferson Athletic club will stage the bouts under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania athletic commission.

Factors Lose To Sharon Lassies

The Factor girls basketball team went to Sharon last night and lost to the strong Buhl club girls team 20 to 15 in a fine game. A large crowd witnessed the game at the Buhl floor.

The score at the half favored the Buhl club girls 10 to 9. Ann Hordig and Ava Feldkamp were the leading scorers for the Factors. Ann Melnick and Sarah Reese starred for the Sharonites.

Saturday the Factors travel to Canton to play a return game with the Hoover girls team.

Mr. Factor admitted today that the recent game with the Falcon Reserves (boys) ended 36 to 21 but says that it was merely a mistake in figures in the report that he gave The News.

Old Furnace Five Tops K. Pulaskis

Thrilling Battle In Tournament Wednesday Night Goes To Old Furnace 21 To 20

GENEVANS AND PLAINGROVE WIN

The Old Furnace Five advanced to the second round of the city-county basketball tournament last night by a thrilling final few moments rally that nosed out a hard fighting K. Pulaski Five 21 to 20. A crowd of 500 fans attended the third night of the tourney and saw three good games.

In the first game the Plaingrove Boosters defeated the Milton A. C. team 32 to 24, with Reese, T. Rodgers and Hetrick the big scoring stars for the winners, and Humphreys and Melchior best for the losers. At the half the Milton led 15 to 14. Plaingrove now meets the winner of the New Castle Indies and Wilkins A. C. game, next Tuesday night.

Class A Game Thriller
The class A game was the highlight of the evening's event. The game was closer than the Siamense twins. The K. Pulaski Five led the first period 7 to 2, but at the half it was all tied up at 10-10. The third period ended 13-13.

Play in the fourth period was nip and tuck all the way, with the matter of a foul shot by Scott deciding the issue. Incidentally this young man made seven out of eight foul tries for a fine record. Wilson and Scott did the majority of the Old Furnace scoring. For the losers the play of Johnny Pilch, Ryzak and Boron was outstanding.

Genevans Look Good
In the final game on the slate the Genevan basketball team, made up of Geneva college boys residing in New Castle and Lawrence county, defeated the New Castle Ramblers 35 to 21. At the half the collegians led 16 to 11.

The standout stars for the Genevans were Draubenspeck, Maturo, Sterett and Watt. For the Ramblers the work of Cato and Whitesides was the best. This was a class B battle and puts the Genevans into the second round facing the "Rens" next Monday night.

Westminster Varsity Pockets 898 Markers

Dale Dunmire Leads Squad With 201 Points; Stan Wasik Is Second

SEEK TIGHT DEFENSE FOR LONG ISLAND U.

Westminster College's varsity flipping brigade, which meets Long Island University in the Metro cage tourney next Wednesday night, ranks with the most prolific scoring combinations in the land.

The Titans' first five men have poured the ball through the wickers for 898 points in 21 battles for an average of slightly more than 43 points per game. With the exception of Rhode Island State, Westminster probably ranks on top in this division of the game.

Dunmire Leader
Setting a torrid pace in the final four games, Dale Dunmire soared to the top of the Titan scoring division. The Vandergrift 6 foot 3 inch sophomore star has flipped 201 points for the semester. Stan Wasik, 6 foot 4 inch junior ace from South High, Pittsburgh, is at the heels of Dunmire with 200 markers.

Lee Fox, Schenectady, N. Y., slicker, is holding down the third place berth with 191 points. "Buzz" Ridi, Norwin junior who has fully recovered from an ankle injury which detailed him during the caboose end of the season, has amassed 188 points. Joe Spak, South High product, is fifth with 138 points. While Dunmire holds down the first place scoring slot, Fox has potted more field goals than any other mate, his total being 85.

Fred Miller, a 6 foot 3 inch sophomore star from Connellsville, made an exceptionally fine showing during Ridi's absence. Miller raiig up 90 points. Frank O'Hara, Ford City sophomore, has accounted for 55 of the Titans' 1051 points.

Superb Team Work
The figures tell a story of superb team work. No member of the team is out to coral high scoring honors. The cager who is 'hot' on a particular evening is given a wide-open chance. As a result, the Titans can depend on any one of the first seven players on the squad to hit the rim when points are needed.

Individual scoring record:

Player	Fg	F	Tp
Dale Dunmire	78	45	201
Stan Wasik	73	54	200
Lee Fox	85	21	191
"Buzz" Ridi	66	36	168
Joe Spak	33	36	138
Fred Miller	37	16	90
Frank O'Hara	34	17	55

Titans Grid
Coach Grover Washabaugh is endeavoring to develop a tight defense as his Titans five grids for Wednesday night's Madison Square Garden game with Long Island University. After perusing Westminster's season record, the genial mentor admitted that an improvement in defense "is good for any team any time, especially when you prepare to face a club like Long Island."

The Blackbirds won't be complete strangers to the Titans. Last season Westminster visited Brooklyn and was handed a 47-42 setback by Clair Bee's proteges. Long Island's style of play, quite naturally, is known to the New Wilmington smoothies.

With the crucial battle six days away, the Titans are taking things easy. Drills will continue all this week. After boarding a New York bound train Sunday morning, the Titans will arrive in New York City.

EXHIBITION SCORES.
Cincinnati (N.L.) 6, St. Louis (N.L.) 4.
St. Louis (A.L.) 9, Boston (N.L.) 1.
New York (N.L.) 4, Washington (A.L.) 1.

Notes off the cuff: William Andrews, one of Lawrence county's baseball major domos, take time out from his Florida vacation to report that he recently spent an afternoon with Fred Shaffer in Arcadia, Florida. "If physical condition and determination mean a thing, you can say that the New Castle pitcher is going to burn up the American Association this season. I've never seen him look better. Andrews' report, Shaffer, a Louisville Colonel pitcher, is starting his fifth American Association campaign.

There is a strong possibility that Westminster and Villanova may collide in basketball when the 1941-42 court semester bobs up. Complete details are not available. If you good people continue filing into George Washington junior high gymnasium for the City-County basketball tournament, a new attendance record for the new attendance record for the roundup is bound to be added into the books.

Quite a few localities plan following the Titans to New York City next week.

Little mail stuff: To "Gabby": Colorado won the Metro cage tournament last season, defeating Duquesne university in the finals. Indiana U. beat them during the regular season. To N. P. Westminster has never participated in the New York tourney. To "Rajah": Your query too long to answer in column, sorry. To Martin P. Fabian: Feb. 27 item correct. You are apparently thinking about Texas Christian and not Texas A. & M.

Second U. P. Tops Mahoning Quintet

Defeat For Mahoning Methodists Means At Least Tie For Second Half For Greeks

The Second U. P. team last night in the New Castle Church Basketball League defeated the Mahoning Methodist team, thus insuring the St. George Greek quintet of at least a tie for the second-half Class A championship if they drop their final two games. The score was 43 to 32.

McGary and McKee were the scoring stars for the winners, with Howard and Stewart best for the Seventh Ward lads. The game was hard fought all the way.

The first game on the card found the St. Vitus undefeated Class AA champions walloping the Croton boys 62 to 29. Scoring standouts for the Saints were Marcella, V. Ross, and Bucci. For the losers the work of Sheehy was the best.

In the second game the Central Presbyterians nosed out the Central Christians 22 to 20, with Robinson, Balaban and Harris the star performers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Apparently some of the Pittsburgh Pirates belong to the "Stay-Out-At-Night club." Several days ago Manager Frankie Frisch fined two of them and Wednesday he slapped a fine of $250.00 on another erring player who made the error of being caught writing at their San Bernardino, Calif., hotel at 4 a. m., something the manager is opposed to. However, the manager refused to name the players who have suffered fines.

Notre Dame football entered a new era yesterday, the same being Frank Leahy who succeeded Elmer Layden. Two hundred candidates turned out for the first practice. Leahy told a big crowd which welcomed him, "we will make no attempt to emulate Knute Rockne but will try only to match Layden's record." Leahy also thanked Boston college for releasing him so that he could accept the post at Notre Dame.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Medical research scientists often practice on themselves.
Cite the recent case of a Boston surgeon, intent on facts.
He noted that some surgical wounds healed quickly and well.
In other cases, similar wounds healed only after long care.
What was the cause for this variance in healing?
He believed it might be due to lack of vitamin C in the system.
To find out, he went on a scurvy-producing diet himself.
In three months a wound made on his back healed nicely.
At six months scurvy developing, a second wound healed poorly.
Injections of vitamin C aided this wound to heal properly.
Delayed healing of wounds may be due to lack of vitamin C.
Doctors are not averse to experimenting on themselves for proof.

"Cheese slice" can be called by that name, ruled a London judge recently, even if it does not contain any cheese. In his defense the judge cited the fact that there is no rice in rice flakes, no coffee in coffee cakes, no rock in rock cakes and no angel in angel cake.

Most Students Will Continue Studies At State

(International News Service)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 13.—Despite selective service and a growing number of employment opportunities, the overwhelming majority of students at the Pennsylvania State College plan to continue in college next fall, a questionnaire survey showed.
In the three lower classes, 3,871 students expect to continue, 100 do not expect to, and 209 are undecided, Registrar William S. Hoffman, who conducted the study, commented that most of the students in the latter two categories probably are subject to early draft call.

Farm Income Shows Increase In Year '40

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, March 13.—Pennsylvania farmers had a highly lucrative year in 1940, according to Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light, when income from farm marketings showed an increase of $7,751,000 over 1939.

The agriculture secretary's report showed a total revenue of $271,990,000 of which $80,001,000 was received from crops and $191,989,000 came from livestock and livestock products.

Despite the increased agricultural revenue, the combined farm inventory numbers of live species of livestock—horses, mules, cattle, sheep and hogs—were 2 per cent lower on January 1 than one year ago. The decline was shared by all species with the exception of cattle which showed no change from the previous year.

Egg production by Pennsylvania farm flocks, according to Light, increased to 11.5 in the monthly number of eggs per layer. The secretary pointed out that the average for the nation was 8.7 eggs monthly per layer. The Pennsylvania average was maintained despite a decrease in the number of layers from 15,570,000 in 1939 to 15,440,000 the last year.

Light emphasized that particular care is taken of all flocks in the state. Tests for disease and matings take place continually in order to assure a full production capacity.

Another source of satisfaction was the 164 pounds average milk production per cow, the highest monthly average since February, 1931. Light attributed the increased production to good weather in the south and southeastern areas and the heavy rations of grain fed to cows.

A source of worry to the state's agriculturalists, however, was the steady decline in the number of farms and farm acreage since 1900, a situation which is reflected throughout the nation.

Light reported that at the turn of the century there were 224,248 farms in Pennsylvania with a total acreage of 19,791,341. On April 1 of last year there were 169,027 farms and 14,594,134 acres.

In spite of the decreased acreage, however, the value of land and buildings during the past five years increased $2,500,000 with the value in April, 1940, having been $864,199,795.

Another increase in Pennsylvania's crop production was noted in the merchantable stocks of potatoes. According to reports, there were 7,238,000 bushels on hands on January 1 as compared with 6,775,000 bushels for a corresponding period one year ago.

As the canning season approaches, agents of the department have been engaged in the systematic collection of spoiled food products for analysis for the purpose of determining whether there are any law violations in the marketing of these products. The products tested are pure olive oil, sausage, frankfurters, smoked meats, butter, milk, cream, oysters, flour, cereal and canned fruits.

Indications are that the canning industry will contract for a considerable increase in acreage in Pennsylvania this year as compared with 1940. The same situation has been apparent in all other states where canning products are raised.

Small farm owners, according to Light, will come in for a larger share of the industry this year. Canning industries, it was reported, fear to place dependence for larger portions of crops on any single grower in view of a possible shortage of labor this summer.

CRIME DECREASE SHOWN IN CITY

F. B. I. Record Shows Less Crime In New Castle During Past Year

By ARTHUR C. WIMER (Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 13.—New Castle's record in 1940 shows less crime than most cities of the nation, according to a survey just released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The FBI study covered "offenses known to the police" or, in other words, crimes reported by police departments of the various cities. Such offenses in New Castle were recorded as totaling 352 in 1940. This was a decrease of 132 offenses, or about 30 per cent, below the 1939 total of 484.

In urban United States as a whole, on the other hand, such crimes increased 2.2 per cent.

The New Castle decline was largely accounted for by drops in burglary offenses and larceny cases. The number of burglary cases in the city fell from 122 in 1939 to 91 in 1940, and larceny offenses involving theft of less than $50 declined from 243 to 155. Auto thefts decreased from 80 to 63, and robbery crimes from 19 to 11. Larceny cases involving theft of $50 and more increased from 18 to 26, and aggravated assaults from two to five. The city had two offenses classified as murder and non-negligent manslaughter in 1940 but none in 1939.
